

THE RELEVANCE OF THE 'MORAL' TO THE 'GOOD'

1. THE RELEVANCE OF THE 'MORAL' TO THE 'GOOD'

It is a truism that the 'moral' is relevant to the 'good'. The 'moral' is a subset of the 'good'. The 'moral' is a subset of the 'good' because the 'moral' is a subset of the 'good'.

It is a truism that the 'moral' is relevant to the 'good'. The 'moral' is a subset of the 'good'. The 'moral' is a subset of the 'good' because the 'moral' is a subset of the 'good'.

It is a truism that the 'moral' is relevant to the 'good'. The 'moral' is a subset of the 'good'. The 'moral' is a subset of the 'good' because the 'moral' is a subset of the 'good'.

It is a truism that the 'moral' is relevant to the 'good'. The 'moral' is a subset of the 'good'. The 'moral' is a subset of the 'good' because the 'moral' is a subset of the 'good'.

It is a truism that the 'moral' is relevant to the 'good'. The 'moral' is a subset of the 'good'. The 'moral' is a subset of the 'good' because the 'moral' is a subset of the 'good'.

It is a truism that the 'moral' is relevant to the 'good'. The 'moral' is a subset of the 'good'. The 'moral' is a subset of the 'good' because the 'moral' is a subset of the 'good'.

It is a truism that the 'moral' is relevant to the 'good'. The 'moral' is a subset of the 'good'. The 'moral' is a subset of the 'good' because the 'moral' is a subset of the 'good'.

It is a truism that the 'moral' is relevant to the 'good'. The 'moral' is a subset of the 'good'. The 'moral' is a subset of the 'good' because the 'moral' is a subset of the 'good'.

It is a truism that the 'moral' is relevant to the 'good'. The 'moral' is a subset of the 'good'. The 'moral' is a subset of the 'good' because the 'moral' is a subset of the 'good'.