

the first of these was the fact that the United States had a large and growing population. This was due to a combination of factors, including a high birth rate and a low death rate. The second factor was the fact that the United States had a large and growing territory. This was due to the fact that the United States had acquired a large amount of land from other countries, including France and Spain. The third factor was the fact that the United States had a large and growing economy. This was due to the fact that the United States had a large and growing number of factories and other industrial plants.

The fourth factor was the fact that the United States had a large and growing military. This was due to the fact that the United States had a large and growing number of soldiers and sailors. The fifth factor was the fact that the United States had a large and growing navy. This was due to the fact that the United States had a large and growing number of ships and other naval vessels. The sixth factor was the fact that the United States had a large and growing air force. This was due to the fact that the United States had a large and growing number of airplanes and other aircraft.

The seventh factor was the fact that the United States had a large and growing space program. This was due to the fact that the United States had a large and growing number of rockets and other space vehicles. The eighth factor was the fact that the United States had a large and growing scientific community. This was due to the fact that the United States had a large and growing number of scientists and other researchers. The ninth factor was the fact that the United States had a large and growing artistic community. This was due to the fact that the United States had a large and growing number of artists and other creative people.

The tenth factor was the fact that the United States had a large and growing cultural community. This was due to the fact that the United States had a large and growing number of writers, musicians, and other cultural figures. The eleventh factor was the fact that the United States had a large and growing sports community. This was due to the fact that the United States had a large and growing number of athletes and other sports figures. The twelfth factor was the fact that the United States had a large and growing entertainment community. This was due to the fact that the United States had a large and growing number of actors, actresses, and other entertainment figures.

The thirteenth factor was the fact that the United States had a large and growing media community. This was due to the fact that the United States had a large and growing number of newspapers, magazines, and other media outlets. The fourteenth factor was the fact that the United States had a large and growing technology community. This was due to the fact that the United States had a large and growing number of inventors and other technologists. The fifteenth factor was the fact that the United States had a large and growing business community. This was due to the fact that the United States had a large and growing number of entrepreneurs and other business leaders.

The sixteenth factor was the fact that the United States had a large and growing government community. This was due to the fact that the United States had a large and growing number of politicians and other government officials. The seventeenth factor was the fact that the United States had a large and growing education community. This was due to the fact that the United States had a large and growing number of teachers and other educators. The eighteenth factor was the fact that the United States had a large and growing health care community. This was due to the fact that the United States had a large and growing number of doctors and other health care professionals. The nineteenth factor was the fact that the United States had a large and growing social service community. This was due to the fact that the United States had a large and growing number of social workers and other social service professionals. The twentieth factor was the fact that the United States had a large and growing legal community. This was due to the fact that the United States had a large and growing number of lawyers and other legal professionals.